Kind wizard! A little birdie once told me that you granted her a human form.
Please... I, too, wish to become human.

As a tree, I am often taken for granted. Squirrels build homes in me, and birds pluck seeds from my branches.
I am a shelter for many, and a friend to none.

If I were human, I would no longer be disregarded. I'd have freedom to live as I please.

Noble oak, my magic can modify your form, but it cannot change your true self.
The creatures of the forest will know that you have the heart of a tree, and they will continue to treat you as such...

Let them! It will give me a good laugh once I have lungs to laugh with!
SHWOOOOO
Very well. Be it so.
